Bluejays rout Durant 45–7 for fourth straight victory ↗

Guthrie improves to 6–3 and strengthens its playoff position ahead of next Friday's regular-season finale against Duncan.

By OSC Staff

DURANT — Guthrie made its longest road trip of the regular season a productive one Friday night, rolling past Durant 45–7 at Paul Laird Field for a fourth consecutive victory.

The Bluejays improved to 6–3 overall and 4–1 in Class 5A District 1, continuing a turnaround that has produced six victories in seven games after an 0–2 start. Guthrie's only loss during that stretch was a one-point decision at Carl Albert.

Friday's 38-point victory gave Guthrie its most decisive result since a 49–7 win over Blanchard in September. It also provided a more comfortable finish than the previous week, when the Bluejays held off Noble 28–21 at Jelsma Stadium.

Bluejays rout Durant 45–7 for fourth straight victory ↗

Guthrie has outscored opponents 152–54 during its current winning streak, which includes victories over Midwest City, Lawton, Noble and Durant. The Bluejays have held two of those four opponents to single digits, allowing six points against Lawton and seven against the Lions.

The result keeps Guthrie in a strong position to earn a home game in the opening round of the playoffs. The Bluejays entered Friday's contest second in the district behind Carl Albert, with Durant and Duncan remaining on the regular-season schedule.

The victory, combined with Carl Albert's 49–19 win over Midwest City, secured Guthrie second place in Class 5A District 1 and a home game in the opening round of the playoffs.

Guthrie returns to Jelsma Stadium on Friday, November 6, to face Duncan in the regular-season finale. A victory would give the Bluejays a fifth consecutive win and a 5–1 district finish heading into the postseason.

State Records Reveal Controversial Election Consulting Firm's Involvement in Logan County Judicial Campaign ↗

THE OKLAHOMA STATE CAPITAL

Sierra Pfeiffer's payments to CAMP Political bring a controversial campaign firm—and the professional campaign tactics familiar in legislative races—into Logan County's traditionally low-key judicial elections.

By OSC Staff

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. — The Oklahoma City headquarters of political consulting firm CAMP Political, pictured on a dreary, overcast day in the capital city.

As Logan County residents prepare to go to the polls, one of the last of Logan County's nonprofessionalized campaign sectors has been professionalized.

Campaign funding records filed with the state last week show Logan County associate district judge candidate Sierra Pfeiffer paying more than 90% of campaign expenditure to a campaign firm, whose Chief Operating Officer Jarred Brejcha headed up the dark money group creating controversial, AI-generated dark money ads supporting Republican gubernatorial candidate Gentner Drummond by showing a fictional depiction of fellow Republican Mike Mazzei meeting in the Oval Office with Hillary Clinton.

That firm, CAMP Political LLC, as reported by Oklahoma City's KFOR, simultaneously provided general consulting services for Drummond, raising questions due to the prohibition on expenditure coordination between campaigns and the dark money groups that support them. Brejcha said he did not work on Drummond's campaign, and CAMP said it maintained compliance procedures and firewalls.

As of the October 19 deadline, Pfeiffer reported having spent $20,880 on her election effort, paying CAMP nearly $19,000 of that amount, with a significant portion going toward mailings and the controversial, unsolicited texting that has bombarded the phones of so many local voters during the election cycle—a campaign strategy for which CAMP-represented candidates have become well known.

Historically, Logan County judicial races have been low-key, retail political affairs, with judicial candidates campaigning in person or relying on relationships, without the influence of professional consultants.

Logan County elections have slowly professionalized, starting in 2012 when Senate candidate AJ Griffin hired CAMP's predecessor agency. The agency has stayed engaged in Logan County politics, successfully passing a property tax hike, electing Senator Chuck Hall and State Representative Collin Duel, and representing House Appropriations Chairman Kevin Wallace in his unsuccessful attempt to stay in office in House District 32, a district that includes parts of eastern Logan County.

The firm was also involved in the recent unsuccessful effort to unseat House District 33 Representative Molly Jenkins, who also represents eastern Logan County. Cushing City Commissioner B.J. Roberson hired CAMP and spent just over $60,000 in his unsuccessful attempt earlier this year. Jenkins made an issue of Roberson's relationship with CAMP, citing his negative mailers and CAMP's reputation as reasons for voters to reject his campaign.

Logan County voters may cast ballots early on Saturday, October 31, from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Logan County Election Board's early voting location, 219 S. Broad St. in Guthrie. On Election Day, Tuesday, November 3, voters must vote at their assigned polling locations, which will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

THE MORNING REPORT

GUTHRIE, Okla. — Good morning, First Capital, and happy Saturday. Last night the Bluejays travelled to the Choctaw Nation and routed Durant 45–7 for their fourth straight win. State records show a controversial election consulting firm is involved in the Logan County judicial campaign. Deputies were sent Friday afternoon to a tree blocking both lanes of Highway 77, and a large fire was reported overnight west of MacArthur, between MacArthur and Rockwell. The Guthrie Flea Market opens at 8 a.m., the county Election Board holds their general election special meeting at 3 p.m., and KOCO reports an Edmond Public Schools bus collision with no children injured. Expect light rain and morning fog.
